

Why Your Class Attendance Matters!

FACT #1

Students who attend 90% or more of their classes have a 68% chance of graduating within four years, compared to a 21% chance for those attending less than 70% of classes.

FACT #2

Skipping just one class in a semester can lower a student's course grade by an entire letter, according to research.

FACT #3

Studies show that students who are frequently tardy have lower GPAs, lower scores on standardized assessments, and fewer credits earned compared to their peers.

FACT #4

A study found that students with attendance rates above 80% scored an average of 18% higher on standardized tests than those with lower attendance rates.

FACT #5

Students who are frequently absent are more likely to need to retake courses, prolonging their time to graduation.

FACT #6

Absenteeism in school and university correlates with an increased likelihood of absenteeism in the workplace, affecting career growth.
